Abstract

The present invention relates to a liposome formulation for iontophoresis for administering an antioxidant component to a living organism by iontophoresis, the liposome formulation being characterized in that the antioxidant component is encapsulated in a liposome.