19. An electrostatic image developing toner substantially as herein described with reference to any one of the examples, but excluding any comparative examples.

20. An electrostatic image developer substantially as herein described with reference to any one of the examples, but excluding any comparative examples.

21. A toner cartridge substantially as herein described with reference to any one of the examples, but excluding any comparative examples.

22. A process cartridge substantially as herein described with reference to any one of the examples, but excluding any comparative examples.

23. An image forming apparatus substantially as herein described with reference to any one of the examples, but excluding any comparative examples.

24. An image forming method substantially as herein described with reference to any one of the examples, but excluding any comparative examples.

25. A method for producing an electrostatic image developing toner substantially as herein described with reference to any one of the examples, but excluding any comparative examples.