Abstract

Process for the Sustainable Design of Perfumes

A method of creating a perfume composition sustainably, said method comprising the steps of forming the composition comprising ingredients having a known and acceptable sustainability rating determined according to a sustainability rating method defined by certain sustainability factors selected from a factor related to the environmental impact of both the individual ingredients and the formula containing said ingredients; a factor related to the origin of the ingredients; a factor related to the energy consumption used in production of the formula; and a factor related to the sustainable sourcing of the ingredients.

(No suitable figure)