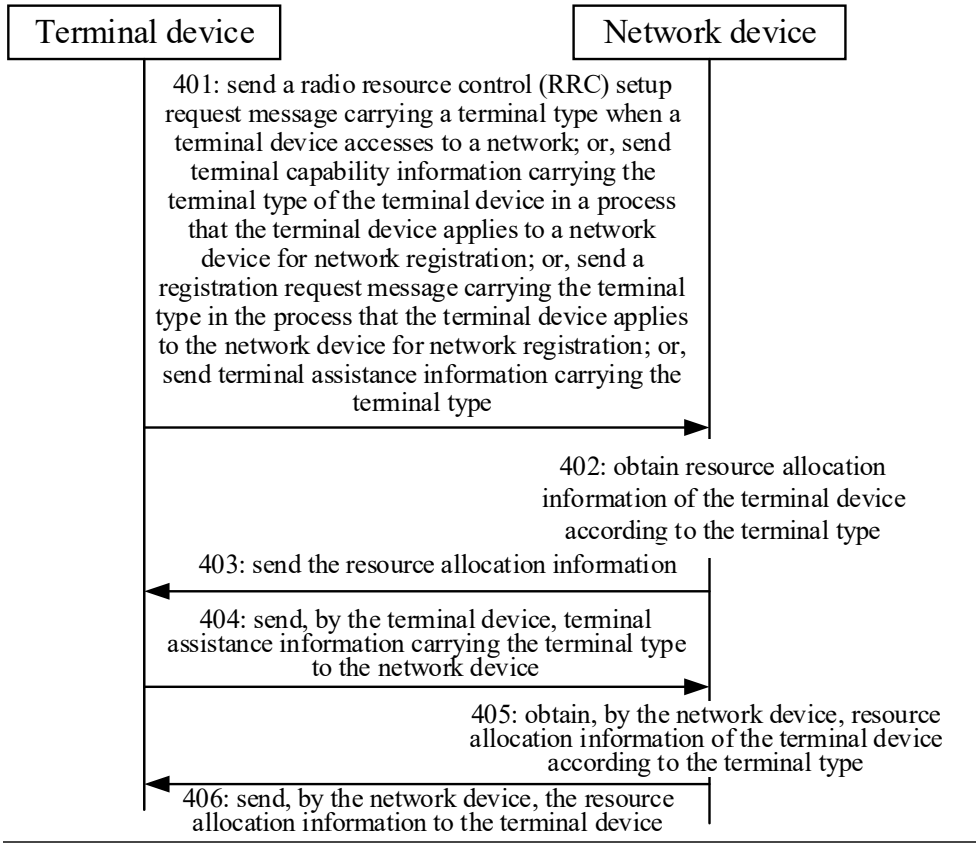
Terminal device
Network device
401: send a radio resource control (RRC) setup request message carrying a terminal type when a terminal device accesses to a network; or, send terminal capability information carrying the terminal type of the terminal device in a process that the terminal device applies to a network device for network registration; or, send a registration request message carrying the terminal type in the process that the terminal device applies to the network device for network registration; or, send terminal assistance information carrying the terminal type
402: obtain resource allocation information of the terminal device according to the terminal type
403: send the resource allocation information



Terminal device
Network device
401: send a radio resource control (RRC) setup request message carrying a terminal type when a terminal device accesses to a network; or, send terminal capability information carrying the terminal type of the terminal device in a process that the terminal device applies to a network device for network registration; or, send a registration request message carrying the terminal type in the process that the terminal device applies to the network device for network registration; or, send terminal assistance information carrying the terminal type
402: obtain resource allocation information of the terminal device according to the terminal type
403: send the resource allocation information
404: send, by the terminal device, terminal assistance information carrying the terminal type to the network device
405: obtain, by the network device, resource allocation information of the terminal device according to the terminal type
406: send, by the network device, the resource allocation information to the terminal device

FIG. 4

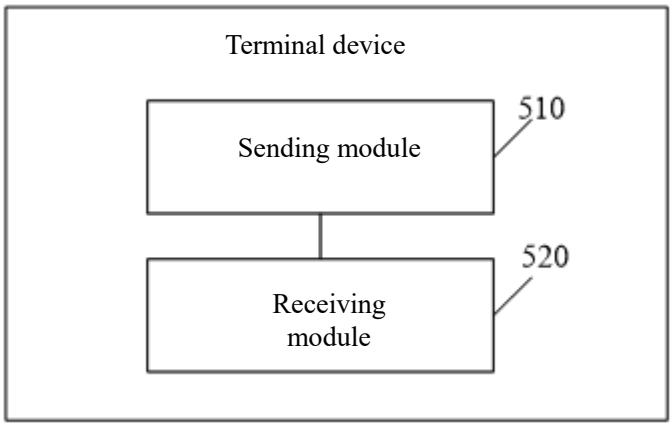


FIG. 5