ABSTRACT

A method for recording a report of successful primary secondary cell (PSCell) addition or change (PAC), performed by a terminal, includes: receiving, (101), a configuration message sent by a network device, in which the configuration message includes a trigger condition configuration; and recording, (102), the report of successful PAC based on the trigger condition configuration.

FIG. 1