ABSTRACT

One mode of the analysis information management method according to the present invention is a method for managing information related to an analysis by an analyzing device, using a computer or computers, the method including the steps of: (S2) collecting, as comprehensive log information, work-log information related to a use of the analyzing device; (S3) calculating the number of executions of each of a plurality of types of work including a manual analysis operation and a batch analysis operation, using at least a portion of the comprehensive log information collected in the step of collecting; (S4) presenting, to a user, information of the number of executions of each of the types of work obtained in the step of calculating; (S5) receiving, from the user, an input of one or more types of work selected from the plurality of types of work; and (S6) presenting, to the user, the work-log information concerning the one or more types of work received from the user.

(Fig. 2)