Abstract

This invention relates to a substrate composition for percutaneous absorption containing a styrene-isoprene-styrene block copolymer, a softener, a tackifying resin and hexylene glycol and also to a percutaneously absorbable preparation containing the same and a pharmaceutical.