ABSTRACT

The purpose of the present invention is to provide the provision of a drug capable of enhancing the efficacy of an inflammatory disease treatment drug. Administering carbonated apatite that does not contain an inflammatory disease treatment drug, in addition to administering an inflammatory disease treatment drug, to a patient with an inflammatory disease makes it possible to dramatically enhance the effect of treating the inflammatory disease.

(No figure)