This Sheet Has Been Replaced

Abstract

Novel method of treatment of Parkinson's disease

2-amino-N-(1,2-diphenyl-1-methylethyl)acetamide (remacemide) or a pharmaceutically acceptable salt thereof, and L-dopa, are useful in conjunction with one another in the treatment of Parkinson's disease. Pharmaceutical products and formulations comprising these active agents are provided.