ABSTRACT

The invention relates to the use of a plastic composite (1, 1') comprising a carrier material (3, 3') selected from the group of polyethylene terephthalate (PET), polyethylene naphthenate (PEN) or ethylene tetrafluoroethylene copolymer (ETFE), as well as polyamide 12 layers (2, 2', 4, 4') adjoining the carrier material on both sides for the production of photovoltaic modules.

(Fig. 1)