162162

Abstract

The invention concerns a data carrier such as a security, banknote, identity card or similar which features embossing in a predefined area, whereby at least part of the embossing has the form of an inclined plane.

G00001