ABSTRACT

A cycloidal marine propulsion system comprising a power source, an alternating current (AC) generator powered by the power source, and at least one rotating wheel with an AC motor and with a plurality of rotating blades attached to the at least one rotating wheel is provided. The frequency of the AC generator and a frequency of an electric current driving the AC motor is the same.

Fig. 1