ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a portable carrier. The portable carrier comprises a base, a carrier body and a reinforcing member. The carrier body is arranged on the base and has a front side portion and a rear side portion which are located on opposite sides in a longitudinal direction. The carrier body and the base jointly form an accommodating space. The reinforcing member is arranged on the front side portion and/or the rear side portion and is connected to the base.

Fig. 1