ABSTRACT

A method for subscribing to quality of service (QoS) monitoring measurements, performed by a first network function, includes: sending first request information to a second network function, in which the first request information is used for requesting a subscription to the QoS monitoring measurements obtained by monitoring QoS of at least two service data flows (SDFs).

Fig. 2