ABSTRACT

Adapter device (13) installable on a portable long firearm (11) in which a cartridge storage element (12) can be inserted; where the adapter device (13) has a hollow rectangular parallelepiped shape, open at both its top and its bottom, and comprises some first mechanical means (21-1, 21-2) externally distributed on the short sides of the adapter device for mechanically assembling it on the mouthpiece of the portable gun magazine; it also comprises some second mechanical means (41) to receive the cartridge storage element.

Fig. 1