Abstract

Composite Interconnect and Method for Forming Composite Interconnects

A composite interconnect and method for forming composite interconnects is provided. The composite interconnect can withstand high thermal cycling and operating temperatures for application in solid oxide fuel cell stacks. High aspect ratio metal particles are mixed with ceramic powder and fired to form the composite interconnect.

Fig. 1

162162

G00002