MICROWAVE ASSISTED POST-FPI CLEANING METHOD

ABSTRACT

[0022] A method for cleaning a gas turbine engine component following a fluorescent penetrant inspection process comprises immersing the component in a cleaning solution and heating the component in a microwave oven while immersed in the cleaning solution for a period of time.

Figure 1.