ABSTRACT

Provided are a data transmission method, a terminal device and a network device. The method includes: when a data duplication function of a packet data convergence protocol (PDCP) layer is switched from an activated state to a closed state, determining a first entity of a protocol data unit (PDU) for transmitting the PDCP layer; and sending the PDU to a network device via the first entity.

(Fig. 2)