Abstract

The invention is in the field of the preparation of alicyclic compounds by ring hydrogenation of aromatic compounds. The invention provides processes for preparing alicyclic compounds, preferably alicyclic carboxylic acids and esters thereof, using a static mixer, and also apparatuses for carrying out this process.

[No suitable figure]