

ABSTRACT

The present disclosure relates to a playing method, a playing apparatus and a computer-readable storage medium, and relates to the field of data processing. The playing method comprises : acquiring device movement information during filming of a video and a plurality of frames in the video; acquiring an initial watching angle of and a current watching angle of a playing terminal; according to a difference value between the current watching angle and the initial watching angle, and the device movement information, determining a frame corresponding to the current watching angle; and playing the frame corresponding to the current watching angle.