

ABSTRACT

The present application relates to a multi-layer film comprising a nutrient material for cell culture, a method for preparing same, and the use of same. The multi-layer film of the present application can be utilized for cell culture for preparing cultured meat.