

MOBILE PAYMENT METHOD, APPARATUS, AND DEVICE

ABSTRACT

Implementations of the present specification disclose a mobile payment method, apparatus, and device. In the implementations of the present specification, a terminal device can monitor body movements of a user when the terminal device is in a lock screen mode; display a mobile payment interface when it is determined that the monitored body movement satisfies first specified criteria; and execute a mobile payment service based on inputs received through the mobile payment interface.

FIG. 2