

ENERGY GENERATION METHOD

Abstract

The invention disclosed provides a method to generate energy by preparation of at least one mechanical part/structure, which moves within at least one type of medium.

No figure to be published.