ABSTRACT

There are provided a section for communicating with a user terminal, a section for accessing a provision information database, a section for acquiring a search keyword from the user terminal, a section for obtaining provision information from provision information database on the basis of the search keyword, a section for transmitting a detailed keyword collection prepared by aggregating the provision information to the user terminal, a section for obtaining a word as selected from the detailed keyword collection by the user terminal, a section for searching the provision information database with the selected word as a search keyword to obtain corresponding provision information, and a section for transmitting the provision information as obtained to the user terminal as a search result.

162162

G00002