

A Method and Components for the Manufacture of a Surface Finish for Brickwork

Abstract

A brickwork structure including a plurality of face bricks having a first mortar layer between the bricks, and a second mortar layer applied to a textured face of the bricks by means of sponging or bagging. The second mortar layer having a colour substantially matching the colour of the bricks.