TRADING OPPORTUNITIES BASED ON PUBLIC TICKER DATA

ABSTRACT

Systems and methods for improving an efficiency of a system, including a financial exchange system, includes extracting trade data from one or more external data sources, parsing the trade data to identify trade information, comparing the trade information to one or more parameters, creating new trades based on the trade information only when the one or more parameters are satisfied, and offering the new trades to one or more participants.

FIG. 1