

Abstract

The present invention relates to the field of nucleic acid sequencing. In particular, the present invention relates to a scanning reagent containing a saponin compound, a kit containing the scanning reagent and a method for nucleic acid sequencing by means of using the scanning reagent.

Figure 6