Abstract

A communication method is performed by an access point (AP) supporting multi-link communication. The communication method may comprise: determining a first message frame, wherein in response to a condition related to the multi-link communication being met, the first message frame comprises a reduced neighbor report (RNR) information element; and sending the first message frame on a first link among a plurality of links.

FIG. 2