K. Abstract:

Compositions containing an anesthetic and an extracellular matrix component or fragment thereof and methods for treating pain by topically administering such compositions are described herein.