

ABSTRACT

Embodiments of the present disclosure provide a method, an apparatus, a device and a system for managing game devices. A first service is pre-configured in a game device, a second service is pre-configured in a management device, the first service is provided with a remote procedure call RPC interface for the second service to call, when a game device is need to be managed, a management instruction is input through an interactive interface of the management device, after the second service receives the management instruction, the management instruction can be sent to the first service of the game device to be managed through the RPC interface of the game device to be managed, such that the first service can execute the management instruction in response to receiving the management instruction.

[Fig. 2]