Claims:

1. A management system for managing game token that store identification information with which the holder's information is associated, the management system comprising:

a purchasing player identification device configured to identify a player who purchases the game token;

a first writing device configured to record information of the player identified by the purchasing player identification device as a holder associated with the identification information of the game token purchased; a holder identification device configured to identify the holder of the game token by reading the game token wagered at the game table;

a second writing device configured to record information indicating that the casino owns the game token as the holder associated with the identification information of the game token collected from a player and read in the chip tray at the game table;

a third writing device configured to record, as the holder associated with the identification information of the game token paid out, information of the holder associated with the identification information of the game token which is wagered, subject to payout, and no longer read the holder identification device at the game table at the same time as the game token paid out to the player.

2. The management system according to claim 1, wherein the holder associated with the identification information of the game token wagered and returned to the player without being collected in the chip tray, whose holder is identified by the holder identifying device, is not changed.

3. The management system according to claim 1, further comprising a database, wherein the first to third writing devices are configured to record the information of the holder of the game token in the database in association with the identification information.

4. The management system according to claim 1, wherein the first to third writing devices are configured to store the information of the holder of the game token in the game token.

5. The management system according to claim 1, further comprising:

a table player identification device configured to identify the player who uses the game token in the game table; and a control device configured to determine whether or not the holder identified by the holder identification device and the player identified by the table player identification device match with respect to the game token used in the game table.

6. The management system according to claim 5, wherein the table player identifying device is configured to identify the player who uses the game token by face recognition or by reading an ID card.

7. The management system according to claim 1, further comprising a fourth writing device configured to record information indicating that the casino owns the game token as the holder associated with the identification information of the game token to be exchanged to cash.

8. A management system for managing chips used in games at a game table, comprising:

a chip determination device configured to determine chips placed in a betting area on the game table;

a holder identification device configured to identify a holder of the betting chip by referring to a memory device storing the holder of the betting chip placed in a betting area on the game table; and an updating device configured to update the memory device storing the holder of payout chips that are paid out to the betting area where the betting chips are placed, wherein the updating device is configured to update the memory device storing the holders of the payout chips upso that the holder of the payout chips that are no longer determined by the chip determination device together with the betting chips are the holders of the betting chips.

9. The management system according to claim 8, further comprising the memory device storing a plurality of holders of the chips, wherein the holder identification device is configured to refer to the memory device, and the updating device is configured to update the memory device.

10. The management system as recited in claim 8, wherein the chip is provided with a memory device storing the holder of the chip, the holder identification device is configured to refer to the memory device of the betting chip, and the updating device is configured to update the memory device of the payout chip.