Abstract

A data transmission method is performed by a packet data convergence protocol (PDCP) entity, wherein the PDCP entity is associated with a radio link control (RLC) entity in an unacknowledged mode (UM). The method comprises: determining a target working mode of the PDCP entity; and sending data packets to a high layer protocol entity according to a numbering order based on the target working mode.

Figure 1