Method and device for aligning substrates

Abstract

The invention relates to a method for aligning and contacting a first substrate (16) with a second substrate (17) using a plurality of detection units and a corresponding device.

In this regard, figure 1.