

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a method of providing a financial service based on 5 battery valuation and an apparatus for performing the method. A method of providing a financial service based on battery valuation, the method comprises generating, by an apparatus for providing a financial service, a battery portfolio; determining, by the apparatus for providing a financial service, battery portfolio valuation information and a battery portfolio predicted depreciation rate of the battery portfolio; and generating, by the apparatus for providing a 10 financial service, a financial product based on the battery portfolio valuation information and the battery portfolio predicted depreciation rate.

Figure 1 for publication