(54) Title: METHODS AND SYSTEMS FOR REIDENTIFICATION IN A USER INTERFACE

WO 2023/152120 A1

(57) Abstract: There is provided a method (100) for performing description mining for a concept. The method comprises: acquiring (S110) a plurality of reference descriptions, wherein each of the plurality of reference descriptions is associated with a user interface (UI) element corresponding to a type of UI element represented by the concept; generating (S120), based on the plurality of reference descriptions, at least one of a local description for the concept and a global description for the concept, wherein the local description for the concept comprises a description component that is specific to a respective UI, and wherein the global description for the concept comprises a description component that is not specific to a UI; and storing (S130) the at least one of generated local description and global description such that it is associated with a concept identifier corresponding to the concept.
