ABSTRACT

Provided are an electronic device sealing resin sheet which makes it possible to release heat from the electronic device to a substrate, and a method for manufacturing an electronic device package. The electronic device sealing resin sheet of the invention is an electronic device sealing resin sheet including a first resin layer and a second resin layer. The first resin layer has a thermal conductivity of 1 W/mK or more.