

ABSTRACT

For the carbonation of residues produced in combustion operations, in particular for slag treatment in refuse incineration plants, the carrier medium preferably used is a hydrogen carbonate solution. This hydrogen carbonate solution which is prepared using slag water and CO_2 from the exhaust gas in a reaction vessel (12) is fed to the slag from the top in the feed shaft (5). - -

(Figure 1)

This Sheet Has Been Replaced

