

ABSTRACT

5 Provided is a method for manufacturing carbon monoxide, including a step of generating carbon monoxide by a decomposition reaction of at least one raw material of formic acid or formic acid alkyl ester in the presence of a solid acid catalyst, in which the solid acid catalyst has a BET specific surface area of 590 m²/g or less.