

Abstract

An information provision device 100 in an information provision system 1 includes, as its functions: a score control unit 131 that increases or decreases a provision timing score on the occurrence of a predetermined action; a timing determination unit 132 that determines the coming of the time to provide quiz information if the provision timing score exceeds a predetermined threshold; a priority control unit 133 that determines or changes, based on the situation of, e.g., a sport game on each occurrence of an action, priority associated with text information from which quiz information is generated; a quiz information generation unit 134 that generates appropriate quiz information based on the situation of, e.g., the sport game at the time determined; and a quiz information provision unit 135 that provides the generated quiz information to a user.