

ABSTRACT

A storage device according to the embodiment of the present disclosure may include a memory for storing data and a controller determining whether to activate one or more of a plurality of low power mode entry techniques among a plurality of low-power mode delay techniques based on the power mode.

FIG.3