

ABSTRACTMATRIX INTERPOLATION

5 A method of memory matrix interpolation in an ASIC processor requires a reduced amount of programme code and memory space in the interpolation routine by shifting values in the interpolation routine between shift registers and overwriting redundant data in the shift 10 registers with intermediate results.

Figure 8