

ABSTRACT

Embodiments of the present application provide a method and apparatus for quickly inserting a text of a voice carrier, the method comprising: opening a document to be edited; obtaining a voice acquisition instruction from a user; obtaining a voice of interest according to the voice acquisition instruction; in a first document editing software, recognizing a text corresponding to the voice of interest; moving the text into the document to be edited. By applying the method of the embodiments of the present application, work efficiency can be improved.