

ABSTRACT

A SMALL NOODLE MAKING MACHINE

This utility model provides a small noodle making machine, including the first machine unit which contains the flour filter, mixer and press processing unit; and the press processing units locate in the second and third machine units. Also the cook processing unit locates at the end of the third machine unit. In comparison with existing similar products, this utility model could complete the whole process from the source to the product, and is suitable for the usage of normal restaurant in timely offering fresh noodles.

FIG.3