

Abstract

A problem to be solved of the present invention is to provide a diverting agent which gradually dissolves in water. The present invention relates to a diverting agent containing a
5 polyvinyl alcohol-based resin and a method of filling a fracture using the diverting agent.

[No Figure]