

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides an information processing method and apparatus, a communication device, and a storage medium. The information method executed by a UE can comprise: obtaining a measurement relaxation parameter, the measurement relaxation parameter being used for the UE to relax measurement of a wireless signal transmitted by a network node, wherein the network node comprises a master network (MN) node; and/or a secondary network (SN) node.

Figure 2.