

NATIVE LIGATION PROCESSAbstract

The present invention relates to a method for producing a polypeptide, including at least one native ligation step using a peptide functionalized with a selenium group. The invention further relates to selenium peptides and compounds.

(No Figure for publication)