

ABSTRACT

A server device (40) includes an acquisition means (412) that acquires fouling levels of a plurality of regions of a surface of a hull of a ship,
5 and a calculation means (415) that calculates a frictional resistance of an entirety of the hull, using coefficients of frictional resistance corresponding to the fouling levels of the plurality of regions.