

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

LOCAL PHOTO PRINTING

5 A method for printing image data from a service provider which includes identifying image data stored by the service provider for printing, transferring the image data to a user information handling system, configuring the user information handling system for printing the image data and automatically printing the image data. Configuring the user information handling system for printing is performed by the service provider.

Figure 2

162162

G00002