

Abstract

The present invention relates to surgical devices, particularly to an circumcision apparatus, enable the circumcision apparatus to be suitable for different surgery objects and environments.