

ABSTRACTGRAPHENE MODIFICATION

We disclose a method for cleaning a graphene surface. The method comprises contacting the graphene surface with a hydrogen plasma or a helium plasma or a neon plasma 5 for a time sufficient to remove surface impurities without altering the chemical or physical makeup of the graphene surface.

Figure 1